Matt Lee accepts the challenge to become the next American driver to successfully maintain a seat in F1. He recognizes the chance of making it to the biggest stage in racing is a long road to drive and statistically he would have better odds winning the lottery. This is where we witness the grit and determination of this young man. He will not be distracted or deterred from delivering an American flag to the podium of an F1 event. Lately there hasn't been anyone in front of him to dispute his aspirations. As always we ask, "Do you qualify." Matt certainly is paying our slogan off.
